

Figure 3: Plausibility assessment in the synthesis of Longifolene. The top path is to be preferred because the product of the intramolecular Michael cyclization is activated for the addition of a methyl group in the correct position. In the bottom path, there are two competing sites for the subsequent addition of the methyl group.